To whom it may concern,

We at Fieldgate Organics recently purchased 2 software programs and the required hardware from Can-Trac Technologies after reviewing other software options.

First we purchased iLabel for a specific application and were pleased with the results. We then purchased iTrace and are similarly pleased with the outcome.

We were paper based as most plants are and found that we were spending large amounts of time writing and even though we have very good and efficient staff the possibility of human error was always present.

The installation and custom configuration of the software went smoothly and the learning curve for our staff was short. I do believe we will see a return on our investment by the labour savings of going paperless with order entry and fulfillment, as well as the increased efficiencies of staff by having them do other things than filling out forms.

We are pleased with the outcome of the implementation of iTrace in our facility and would recommend Can-Trac to anyone considering a software package for their plant. I hope this helps both Can-Trac in their business and those making a decision on a software company.

Best regards
